

ABSTRACT

Methods of modifying polypyrrolic macrocycles by use of a 1,3-dipolar cycloaddition is described. The methods may be used to produce compounds for further derivatization to produce photosensitizing agents of interest.